

The Camp address is 3600 Deer Park Road, St. Cloud Florida. That address gets you close to the camp gate and the shell/dirt road into the camp. You can access Deer Park Road from either 192 in Melbourne or off Nova Road from 520 in Cocoa. You are going to look for a two-pillar brick monument sign that will say “Central Florida Youth & Family Camp” on it (See picture below).

I live near the Brevard Zoo, and I always go I95 South to 192 (New Haven) in Melbourne, then go right on 192, right onto Deer Park Road. I recall the camp entrance is about a 9 mile drive on Deer Park Road from 192.

At the camp entrance, you will turn onto the shell/dirt road at that sign and go thru the gate. The gate may be closed, but won't be locked. If the gate is closed, open it and then close it after you pull thru. If it is open, just drive in. Follow the dirt road (marked in red on the picture) – it ends at camp and is about 1 mile long. There are no turn offs or ways to get lost on the dirt road. You know you are close when you see the large water slide hill and the road turns right, then you go thru a wood fence structure with the athletic field to your right, then the large pavilion and parking is another 250 yards in front of you on the left. Park where you see all the cars and the large pavilion is the home base. The sleeping cabins are behind the pavilion area.
